WHAT IS CARPETBAG?

The renewal and revival of carpetbag in the south will make this section richer than ever.—Atlanta Constitution.

This is a very foolish sentiment from the Atlanta Constitution—foolish because it is an attempt to prejudice one section of the Union against the other. There can be nothing more destructive to southern interests than the line of policy clearly marked out in the four lines from the Constitution. It means that northern men who go to the south to invest their money in industries that will build up the material prosperity of that section of the country shall not hold office, that they shall not be recognized as worthy to become free and independent citizens of the United States. You don't have to read between the lines to see this spirit in the southern press.

What is carpetbagism that the Atlanta Constitution should pronounce anathema against it? When the war closed northern men of enterprise and some capital went south, and investing their money became residents of the south and were fortunate to be elected to office. Some were chosen governors, others were sent to congress, and in two or three instances they were chosen senators. The southern states were just emerging from a terrible rebellion which cost them hundreds of thousands of lives and practically all their resources. It was under circumstances of this kind that these "carpetbaggers" went south to link their fortunes with that section of the country. But there never was a time when the southern states had better administrations than under what the southern papers contemptuously term "carpetbag rule."

And when you read the New York papers on the world's fair being held in that city, pray that no such a misfortune will befall the industrial exposition of the world.

Ex-rider Riddleberger, of Virginia, has become an out-and-out democrat. This is not unexpected. For several years, when in the senate and claiming to be a republican, he carried with him the unmistakable symptoms of democracy. About once a week he used to stagger perceptibly when he entered the senate chamber.

In the estimation of the Washington Post, the chances of Sullivan for an election to congress are "done for." There was a time when it looked as if John L. Sullivan might really be elected to congress, but in an unguarded moment he expressed his determination to reform, and now, we think, his political goons is fricasseeed."

A man who goes into public life with too much mouth, should remember the rate of Tanner. Tanner himself is all right. His tongue is bad.

General Fairchild will not accept the office of commissioner of pensions.

Is This What Ails You.

You have dull, heavy headache, obstruction of the nasal passage, discharge falling from the head into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody and putrid; eyes weak, watery, and inflamed; ringing in the ears, deafness, hacking or coughing to clear, the throat, expectorations of offensive matter, together with scabs from ulcers; voice changed and nasal twang; breath offensive, smell and taste impaired; there a sensation of dizziness, with mental depression, a hacking cough and general debility? If you have these, considerably number of these symptoms, and are suffering from Nasal Catarrh.

The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. Thousands of cases annually, without manifesting half of the above symptoms, result in consumption, and end in the grave. No disease is so common, more deceptive and dangerous, or less understood, or more unsuccessfully treated by physicians who administered to the necessities of the south at a time when the people there were in the midship of want and trouble?

Most of these men, because they were born in the north, are politically ostracized? Is that the way the southern papers propose to establish industries and develop the resources of the southern states?

THE AMENDE HONORABLE.
The Rochester Post-Express, of New York, is a democratic paper—full-fledged, never shaky, and always up to the necessities of the party whether for good or evil. It has made war on Blaine time and again. Whenever it had an opportunity to say something bitter of him, it was as a sweet morsel in the month of the editor of the Post-Express. But one day last week the conscience of the editors of that paper were touched and they printed this editorial paragraph:

We have disgruntled Mr. Blaine for years and many bitter things against him in times gone by; but it is difficult to reconcile his recent career with the theory that he was ever a rascal in the full sense of the word, though he no doubt made many mistakes and did some mean and possibly some wrong things in the course of his life. When he refused to become a presidential candidate in 1888, after the nomination had been virtually put at his disposal, he touched a moral height that no other man of our time had reached: and compared with Cleveland, who lied, intrigued, and satisfied himself to get a nomination, Blaine must be pronounced a model of consistency, self-denial, and patriotism. It is Hyperion to a Satyr.

This is a fair estimate of Mr. Blaine's character which does honor to the democratic paper that expressed it. Blaine will always be, so long as he is in public life, the foremost American. He has the wealth of intellect, the integrity of character, the broad statesmanship, the ripe scholarship, and the influence over men that are rarely found in a public man.

Take Mr. Blaine's services in the department of state. There were those—and they were his enemies—who knew well that he would boss Harrison, that war would come of his recklessness, daring, and ill-advised diplomacy, and that he would make constant trouble in the cabinet. But also, for their ignorance and prejudice! The least in spirit of all the cabinet ministers is James G. Blaine. There is no sneaking; no insult to foreign countries; no friction in his department. There never was a time when the department of state was managed with more steadiness and skill than now. There is not a ripple of excitement therein, but everything goes on under the guiding hand of Mr. Blaine just as gently as the coming of light. This is the boast of republicans, but it confounds the mugwumps and democrats.

One point is made by the Scientific American which is worth consideration, and it is this: "It is our observation that beer-drinkers in this country produce

THE DEAD.

CHARLES BARTLETT, a lad of Burlington, N. J., saw a bald eagle and fired at it, and so soon as it dropped to the ground it arose and went boldly toward the boy and began an attack upon him. The bird fought viciously with talons and beak, flying at him and endeavoring to gouge out his eyes. In the struggle, that lasted for a minute, Bartleett was struck with difficulty from his hold, from the long, sharp talons of the bird. Finally he released himself and ran suddenly far away to shoot another raven sufficiently far away to shoot another raven, for which he measured six feet from tip to tip of the wings.

DEPUTY WARDEN McDONALD KILLED.

Judging, Ill., Sept. 19.—Duncan McDongal, who has been connected with the Joliet prison since 1871, first as guard and recently as deputy warden, has resigned from the service of the State.

At Macoupin, Ill., the grand jury has found no indictments against the officers and men of the McLean county fair for permitting gambling on the fair grounds. True bills were also found against the officers and directors of the Bushnell fair association.

TODD'S.

"BURTON AND INDIA PALE ALES" are acknowledged by judges to be superior to the imported English Ales. They have the virtue of being strictly pure—nothing save malt and hops, and the choicest quality, enters into their composition. Consequently all the nutritive and restorative properties those ingredients are known to possess are found judiciously blended in these brands.

FAILURE OF THE PEACH CROP.

THE YELLOWS DESTROYING THE PEACH ORCHARDS OF THE COUNTRY.

"What's the matter with our fruit dealers, that we don't get some good peaches Janesville?" asked a reporter of one of our prominent dealers the other day, at the same time picking up and sampling a little dried up green specimen said to have been grown in Central Illinois.

"I guess these peaches are as good as you will get this season. You see the peach crop is a failure all over the country, except in California, and California peaches come too high for us to handle. The Michigan orchards have been ruined by the "yellow" and it is said it will require two or three years time before the new orchards come into bearing. Chicago consumes all the good peaches from that point now, and the reports from further east are about the same as from Michigan. If you want a basket of peaches, you had better take one of these along, only eighty cents. You will hardly find better this season."

—The gentleman mentioned in yesterday's Gazette, living over beyond Monterey bridge, in a tent, who lost a horse on Wednesday night, lost another last night. The last one was choked to death.

—Mr. F. J. Bailey, of Port, Bailey & Co., returned to-day with his family from a three weeks trip in Western Iowa. He reports a pleasant journey, and a good time hunting.

—Waited at this office—a copy of the daily Gazette of Wednesday, January 21, 1889. Who ever has a copy of the Gazette of that date will confer a great favor by leaving it at the counting room of the Gazette. The paper is wanted to complete the daily files.

—The funeral of little Lillie Godder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Godden, was held from St. Mary's church this morning at ten o'clock, Rev. J. R. Roche officiating. After the service the little one was laid to rest in Oak Hill cemetery.

—The Chicago Inter-Ocean of this morning publishes a dispatch from Salt Lake City, under date of September 19, which says: "Mrs. Hiram Snell, of Madrid, Idaho, has given birth to sixteen—three boys and three girls. They weigh eight pounds altogether. All are bright and hearty, and promise to live."

—A Gazette reporter made the Kinney & Sanders' Business College and Short Hand School a visit this morning, and found a corps of practical instructors, all busily engaged in their various departments. Being so favorably known, and judging from the way students are enrolling their names from different parts of the country, it will not be a great while until the college will be well filled with earnest workers. May their well deserved popularity constantly increase.

—The second of the seven Salvation Army cases was disposed of yesterday in the municipal court. The jury were out just ten minutes, bringing a verdict of "guilty." Judge Patterson imposed a fine of $10 and costs, amounting to $42.65. It is not known whether the case will be appealed or not. If it is not appealed Mr. Frank Carson will board with Sheriff Babcock for some time to come. Five cases more are on the docket, the next one in order being a lady by the name of Flora Hoyle, but as there is another male member of the band yet to be tried, her case may go over until all the men have been disposed of.

—Ex-Postmaster-General Thomas L. James has prepared an explanation of the prospective disappearance of the postal reform, which will appear in the October Forum. Mr. James declares that the railway mail service is twenty years behind the times and ought to be very greatly improved; that small offices near to one another ought to be consolidated under one management, so as to save expense; and that ocean postage ought greatly to be cheapened. Senator Culom, of Illinois, will have an article in the same number on "Protection and the Farmer," to show that the farmers are greatly benefited by a protective system more than any other class. Mr. Edward Wakefield, a member of the Australian parliament, who has been elected and defeated many times under the Australian ballot system, will contribute to this number an explanation of the practical working and some defects of the system which has been so much discussed in this country. Prof. William T. Harris, United States commissioner of education, writes a critical examination of Edward Bellamy's "Looking Backward."

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION.

REGULAR MEETING TO-MORROW AFTERNOON AT THREE O'CLOCK.

E. church. Two platoons were formed at last Saturday's meeting, a captain, ensigns, treasurer and bankers were elected.

All the boys and girls are invited to attend these meetings.
